ALLOTMENT OF SURGICAL DRESSINGS DOUBLED

Workers Needed To Complete These Necessary Articles—The Boys In Service Need Your Help

Mr. Walter J. Gex, Jr., chairman of the local chapter of the American Red Cross has advised us that the allotment of surgical dressings to Hancock County has been more than doubled since the invasion of France has taken place. However, he also tells us that Hancock County is not in a position to claim any glory for the work that the surgical dressing room has turned out. During this month they have produced less than 10% of their quota of 36,000 pieces. It seems that the ladies are not interested in surgical dressings. To us that particular work should have a great appeal to the mothers and sisters of the boys in service, when we think of our boys who are near and dear to us that might need a surgical dressing. This boy may suffer complications or infection from the lack of surgical dressings. We know that if this boy was at home that his mother or his sisters would certainly see to it that when necessary, surgical dressings would be had. Shouldn't the same feeling exist in the hearts of us when he is on the battle field?

We know that the women of Hancock County are not going to neglect their duty towards the war effort. Won't you contact Mr. Gex, or some member of the Red Cross connected with surgical dressings and offer your assistance? If it is impossible for you to be at the surgical dressings room, at the present established location, why not form your own little group and arrange to make your surgical dressings in your own localities.

We are certain that if all would realize the necessity of this work that everyone would come to the front and lend their assistance.

Mrs. Marie Pratt Soniat Du Fossat wife of Gustave J. Soniat Du Fossat died on Monday, August 7 at 3:55 p. m. at her home at 209 Main St., following a short illness. Her death came as somewhat of a shock as her illness was not considered alarming until pneumonia developed, which resulted in her death.

Mrs. Soniat Du Fossat was a native of New Orleans and lived there until 1929 when she and Mr. Soniat Du Fossat came to Bay St. Louis to live.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Tuesday morning with Fahey Funeral Directors in charge. Services were conducted at the home by Rev. Weathered Its Last Storm

The long pier in front of the Korn-dorfer property Beach and Citizen street, has been completely demolished and Bay St. Louis feels as if it had lost a friend.

The late Charles Sanger who was a prominent figure in Bay St. Louis built this pier about 1894 and though sometimes it was ravaged by storms, Mr. Sanger always saw that it was repaired and many boys and girls, now grown to manhood and womanhood, went swimming from the always safe "Sanger Pier."

Book Lovers Enjoy Treat

The book lovers of Bay St. Louis enjoyed a treat on Tuesday when they had the occasion of hearing Mrs. Benjamin Yancey of New Orleans review the delightful non-war book "They Were Sisters" by Dorothy Whipple.

The book is strictly a family life book with England as its setting and though fiction, it leaves with you something tangible and forceful to remember.

Mrs. Yancey in her own inimitable manner both entertained and amused her audience and left them wanting more. As she talked each character became alive and you felt a personal acquainting with them.

It was a privilege and pleasure for the library board to have secured her and a nice sum for the book fund was realized.

The board appreciates the large audience who came out for this review.

CENTENNIAL DRIVE OF OUR LADY OF GULF CHURCH BEGINS

On Saturday, August 12th, the Centennial Drive of the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf begins. In this issue of the Echo there is a full page advertisement setting out the purposes and plans of this drive.

Committees have been formed and will begin work at that time soliciting contributions. It is planned to complete the exterior of the church according to the original plans, it being necessary to rebuild the Sanctuary Dome, to tile the floors, reconstruct the confessionals, purchase and install marble altars and place in the church a pipe organ.

It has been the hope of Very Rev. Andrew J. Gmelch, Pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, to live to see the day when the church will be free from debt and completed. If the plans of the drive committees are successful, his hope will be realized and August 15, 1947, which is only three years hence, the Centennial Celebration of the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf Church will be held, and this great edifice will be dedicated.

In order that the dedication ceremony take place, it is first necessary that the church be completed and that it be free from debt. It will be necessary that thousands of dollars be raised in order to complete this purpose.

The people of Bay St. Louis have always been responsive to any call made on them for a good cause. We are certain that Bay St. Louis as a whole is proud of this beautiful church building, and we know and feel that they will be responsive to the call now being made on them, so that all may point with pride and say justifiably, "We have worked and contributed to this great edifice dedicated to God."

St. Clare's Fair To Be Held Again Saturday Night, Aug. 12 Due to Bad Weather

Rev. M. J. Costello announces that the Church Fair for the benefit of St. Clare's Catholic Church, which was held on Saturday night, August 12, will be held on the grounds of the church again on Saturday night, August 12.

This is done because the inclemency of the weather made it necessary to close the fair earlier last week.

Mrs. Carrere expressed her appreciation for the splendid work and cooperation of her committees and of the large crowd that attended.

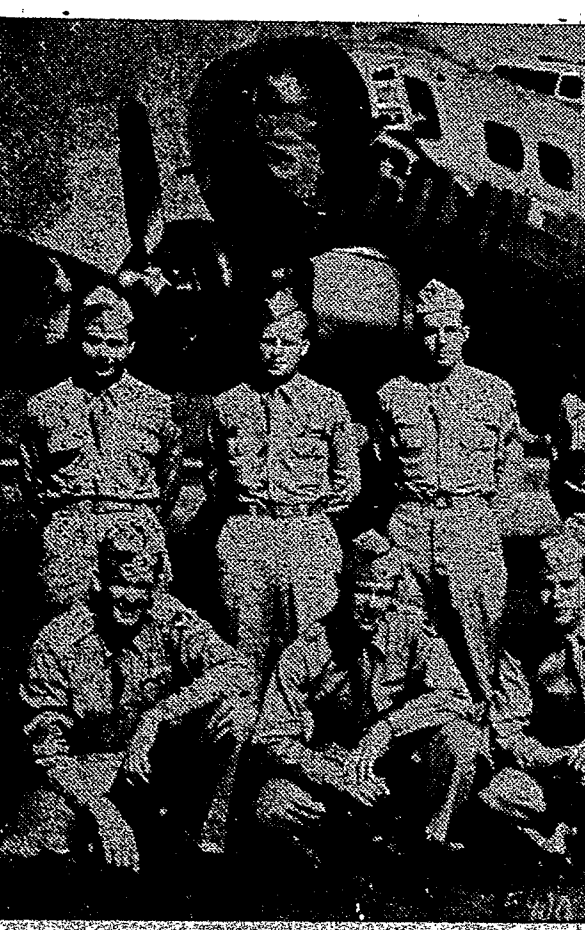

It is hoped that there will be a large crowd out on Saturday night. Remember that the Rectory was burned and money realized from the fair will go towards rebuilding the rectory.

This is a good cause—come out and swell the crowd and swell the fund.

Mother Receives Letter From Commanding Officer

Mrs. Laura Depreo mother of Pvt. Wallace A. Depreo who was killed in action against the enemy in the Pacific, is in receipt of the following letter from Robt. S. Beightler, Major General, Commanding the 37th Infantry Division of which Wallace was a member:

"My Dear Mrs. Depreo: Please permit me to extend my deep and heartfelt sympathy for the great loss you have suffered through the death of your son, Private Wallace Depreo, who was killed in action against the enemy. I sincerely regret that I have been unable to write and convey my condolences at an earlier date, but War Department Policy forbade this for reasons of security."

I realize that nothing can compensate for the great sorrow brought to you, but I am sure that you will be comforted by the knowledge that your son gave his life in the service of his country. He was an excellent soldier, highly regarded by his superior officers, and one whom we were proud to have as a member of this division. His courage and devotion to duty contributed much to the success of his unit in its fight against the enemy.

We of the 37th Division, who are privileged to remain and fight on, will find lasting inspiration in the heroic example of unselfish courage shown by your son.

Yours very sincerely,
Robt. S. Beightler,
Major General, USA,
Commanding.

The thoughts expressed in this letter will probably help this widowed mother through her sorrows.

$12,000.00 NECESSARY FOR COOPERATIVE COUNTY CREAMERY

A business men's committee in Bay St. Louis has been very active in the last few days soliciting subscriptions to the stock certificates of the Cooperative Creamery which is to be erected in Bay St. Louis.

It is necessary that the City of Bay St. Louis raise $12,000.00 for this purpose. The committee reports that they are nearing their goal, but have not quite reached it.

It behooves every person in Bay St. Louis who is able and who is in business, to lend every effort to see that the creamery becomes a reality. Hancock County is fast developing into a great dairying county. In fact, we in Hancock County are today producing more milk than perhaps any South Mississippi County of its size. The quota of milk production for the year 1944 was exceeded in three months of this year.

At the present time eighty dairymen in the county have already subscribed to stock in the creamery. This is a real pay roll for Hancock County and it is helping to develop the rural section of the county, which means much toward the development of the business interest in Bay St. Louis. The business men of Bay St. Louis should realize that much added business can come to them from the rural sections of Hancock County. One need only visit one of our adjoining communities in another county to soon realize what Hancock County's business means to this community; and you may rest assured that these people have made their fight to attempt to prevent the erection of the creamery here, so that much of this business might remain in their community.

While we are speaking of dairies, the Farm Security Administration Office has furnished us with the following data on loans by their office in sixteen of the South Mississippi counties. Hancock County has tied for third place in the proportionate amount collected. This speaks well for the dairymen of the county who have made loans through the Farm Security Administration. We are quoting herewith the report in full:

CHURCH FAIR AT OUR LADY OF THE GULF SATURDAY 19TH AND SUNDAY 20TH

Plans Well Formulated And Volunteers Urged To Offer Assistance

A well stocked food counter of delicious sandwiches and chicken salad with cold drinks also will be ready for early comers at the Church Fair to be held for the benefit of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church on Saturday, August 19th and Sunday, August 20. There will also be ice cream and that wonderful cake counter where home-made cakes may be had. Let the entire family have a date for supper there and help a worthy cause.

Other attractions will be grab bags and zombola tables, a country store, sock the 'nigger babbies' and bingo, also many other interesting games for young and old.

The church fair is an annual attraction—this year repeated because of need for purchasing a pipe organ befitting an edifice of the type of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, in preparation of the celebration of the parish's centennial which will occur in 1947, and in which the Catholic population of Hancock County naturally is especially interested.

Donations of home-made candy, ingredients for same, small articles for grab-bags or the country store and bingo tables, and home-made cakes are requested from anyone wishing to give and may be left at the rectory or at the convent.

Father William Clark and Father John Martin are in charge of the Fair.

MANPOWER PROBLEMS DISCUSSED AT TWO- DAY CONFERENCE

Manpower problems were discussed at the two-day conference of the chief clerks of all local boards of Selective Service in Mississippi on July 25th. The largest portion of the day was devoted to the Veterans Assistance Program created by the Veterans' Assistance Bill, announced Colonel Lawrence W. Long, State Director of the Mississippi Selective Service System.

Lt. Colonel James L. Davis, Chief of the Manpower Division, stated that the Veterans' Assistance Program would be a more important part as its operation expands with the return of veterans in increasing numbers. During the month of June 1101 veterans were processed.

Major Ira M. Terrell, Assistant, Manpower Division, in charge of the Veterans' Assistance Program outlined briefly the plans which had been formulated. At the present the main assistance available for veterans are: employment and reemployment, financial assistance, educational benefits, and medical benefits.

The responsibility of the program lies with several agencies. Each has its specific duty to the veterans and close coordination is maintained between the agencies in seeing that the veterans' rights are protected. The agencies which render assistance to the veterans are: Selective Service System, The Veterans' Administration, the War Manpower Commission, the United States Employment Service, the American Red Cross, the United States Armed Forces Institute, the United States Unemployment Compensation Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Department of Agriculture, the Railroad Retirement Board, and the Vocational Rehabilitation Department of the State Department of Education.

The Veterans are directed to the proper agency by the local re-employment committee of the Selective Service System. The Veterans' Administration renders assistance in seeing that veterans receive proper medical attention, vocational training for appropriate service connected disabilities, education, loans for homes, farm, or business, and the adjustments in pension claims. The United States Armed Forces Institute renders assistance in completing education. The United States Unemployment Compensation Commission provides for unemployment allowances. The Veterans' Employment Division of the United States Employment Service assists in placing veterans in new positions of employment. The Civil Service Commission assists those desiring to enter Federal Government employment. The Department of Agriculture County Agents assist them with agricultural activities. The Railroad Retirement Board assists them in obtaining railroad employment. The Vocational Rehabilitation Department of the State Department of Education assists veterans with appropriate non-service connected disabilities.

It is the duty of every veteran to report to his local board of Selective Service within five days after discharge from the armed forces. If he has never been a registrant of Selective Service, he will register get his proper classification, and make known his wishes as to re-employment. It is his privilege to return to his former employment if he applies within forty days for reinstatement and if he has satisfactorily completed his period of service.

Many veterans do not have old positions to which to return. Figures indicate that 33 percent of the men in uniform went into the service directly from school without having had civilian employment; 21 percent have had one year of civilian employment or less; 15 percent have had from one to two years; 8 percent have had from two to three years experience; and only 23 percent have had over three years. Assistance shall also be rendered to veterans with no previous employment. They may receive financial assistance to help buy a home or start a business. Those veterans whose education has been interrupted, delayed, or interfered with may be given assistance in completing their education; medical attention is available for those who need it as a result of having been injured while in service or for any other reason brought about by service in the armed forces of the United States.

A State Service Committee has been formed consisting of Mr. J. M. Bryant, Chairman of the War Manpower Commission, Colonel Long, State Director of the Mississippi Selective Service System, and Mr. Jim Butler, Director of the Veterans' Administration. The purpose of this committee is to give information to veterans and to assist in guiding them. This program is to be placed on a local level with twenty-seven local committees operating throughout the State.

Appropriate phases of the Veterans' Assistance Program were discussed very ably by the following representatives of agencies concerned: Mr. J. M. Bryant, Chairman of the War Manpower Commission; Mr. W. T. Hankins, of the United States Employment Service; Mr. W. F. Wheatley and Mr. W. H. Spiller of the Veterans' Administration. Each discussed the particular phase of assistance in which his organization was interested and responsible for, and outlined their plans for improvements of such services.

Timely discussions of other manpower problems were made by assistants in the Manpower Division, as follows: Report of Manpower Survey, and Registration, Induction, transfers for classification, pre-induction and induction by Captain Urban B. Koen; Industrial classification, students, appeals, conscientious objectors and aliens by Captain W. H. Rapson; Agricultural classification, discharges by Major Ira M. Terrell; delinquents and penal panel by Captain Francis J. Selman; Federal Government employees and their classifications by 1st Lt. F. C. Law. Correspondence was discussed by Miss Elna Evans, Clerk, Manpower Division, and Lt. Colonel J. L. Davis, chief of the division, discussed waivers for former cases.

Major James W. Rosseter, Camp Shelby, was a guest and discussed Induction Station procedures and problems.

A round table discussion was entered into at the close of the meeting, led by Colonel Lawrence W. Long, and Lt. Colonel James L. Davis, Chief, Manpower Division, Mississippi Selective Service System.

MORE DEATHS

The five months of 1944 shows an increase of 11 per cent in traffic deaths as compared with the first five months of 1943. Already in 1944 the United States has had 9,400 traffic deaths up to the first of June. In the first five months of 1944 Mississippi had 118 traffic deaths as compared with 104 for the same period last year. Accidental deaths in the United States in 1943 reached the enormous total of 97,500, an increase of 1600 over the total of 1942. In addition to the accidental deaths there were 10,100,000 people who suffered disabling injuries, at least 350,000 of them being permanent injuries to some degree. The money cost of these accidents, deaths and injuries, is estimated at $2,700,000,000—loss of time and wages, doctors bills, burial expenses, etc. These facts are published and vouched for by the National Safety Council, Inc., Chicago, Illinois. Accidental deaths and injuries far exceed the number killed and wounded in World War No. 2 in so far as it refers to the people of the United States. This record of facts should cause people to give all possible co-operation to the highway patrol and other safety agencies.

MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION

J. C. Hamilton, Mayor of Vicksburg, and former president of the Municipal Association has issued a statement to the membership of the association making certain suggestions for the "good of the order," and urging all mayors in the state to join the association and be better enabled thereby to contribute to the welfare of city government. C. B. Ross is secretary of the association and is very diligent in his efforts to keep the association up to a high standard and make it mean something to the state through progressive city government.

TAX COLLECTIONS

In the first 25 days of July the Tax Commission collected for the state the sum of $2,093,053.26, this being more than $284,000 in excess of the same period last year. In six months and 25 days of 1944 the Tax Commission collected $19,501,800.38, this being $2,215,447.56 in excess of the amount collected in same period last year.

CAMP MCCAIN

The Chamber of Commerce of Grenada was host to an interesting and important public meeting on Tuesday of last week. The purpose of the meeting was to foster a movement for having Camp McCain converted into a hospital or rehabilitation center for disabled war veterans. Several state officials, including Gov. Thos. L. Bailey, were present and took part in the meeting. Mayors, legislators and other public men attended and took part in the meeting. It seems that there is a good chance for success of the movement.

POLLING MEMBERS

It seems that Gov. Bailey is sending out a questionnaire to members of the legislature asking if they will pledge their support to a loan of $25,000 for the use of investigating committee now checking up the oil situation in the state.

ELECTRIC IRONS

Housewives in Jackson were quite thrilled over the announcement thru the press last week that the city would be allowed 1000 electric irons for the trade during the remainder of this year. Details of the distribution were not made public.

RAKING AROUND—

President J. L. Beven, of the Illinois Central Railroad System, spent Tuesday of last week in Jackson on business connected with the railroad. . . . The dry weather along with excessive heat seems to be holding the boll weevil down to a limited service career this year. . . . The Salvation Army is celebrating its 100th anniversary, and deserves to live another hundred. Just ask any soldier who has been overseas what the Salvation Army has done for the soldiers. . . . Mississippi now has only 26 Confederate Veterans living according to a statement by the Welfare Commissioner, W. F. Bond. . . . The health authorities in Mississippi are not alarmed so far about the infantile paralysis situation although more than 30 cases have been reported in the state. It has not reached the epidemic stage in any part of the state. . . . It is said the Mississippi Power Co. is now engaged in building a large steam generating plant located on Leaf River near Hattiesburg. This plant is to supply the south-east part of the state with current. . . . Sometime ago it was announced that Sen. Overton of Louisiana would not seek re-election but it seems now that he has changed his mind and will seek another term. . . . A meeting of livestock owners in the state was called by the Livestock Sanitary Board and held in the Capitol at Jackson on Wednesday of last week. It was reported that a HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS worth of Livestock was represented at the meeting, in which plans for the future were studied.

"THE EVE OF ST. MARK" AT A. & G. THEATRE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

20th Century-Fox—Of Youth And War

Three successful techniques for stories about the present war have been combined here in a finely produced film. There are delightfully humorous sequences of camp life, poignant scenes of family life on the farm and a dramatic climax of courage and action on the battlefield.

John M. Stahl and William Perlberg, directed and produced the picture. The love scenes with Anne Baxter and William Eythe have an exquisite tenderness. The character of the Southerner, 13 times removed from his inheritance, but living well in the Army by his slow charm and wit, is a delight in all scenes and should score a strong personal triumph for Vincent Price. Michael Shea turns up as the Dodger fan, an Irishman from Brooklyn with the soul of a promoter and a bull-headed tenacity. And a newcomer named Joann Dolan does well by a delightful bit as a camp girl with an ear for poetry and a thirst for Suba libes.

The thread of story carries a young boy from his first furlough and his discovery of love through the heart-breaking last stand on the Philippines when he must find his own reason for fighting on.

Through the comedy, which is of the best, and the tragedy, which is not overplayed, there is an undercurrent of questioning—"when has a boy who has all his life before him given enough to his country's battle?" The only answer shown is that each man must answer for himself.

On the whole, however, George Seaton's screenplay points up entertainment values which keep the theme from weighing heavily and should commend the film to a large audience.

ORTTE THEATRE WED.-THURSDAY "PHANTOM LADY"

With a Superb Cast Headed
By Franchot Tone, Ella
Raines and Alan Curtis

One of the most intriguing mystery dramas to be brought to the screen in the age of sound is Universal's novel production, "Phantom Lady," which shows Wednesday and Thursday at Ortte Theatre.

"Phantom Lady," with a superb cast headed by Franchot Tone, Ella Raines and Alan Curtis, is in no sense a "horror" film, nor is it just another "whodunit" of the cops-and-criminals pattern. It is, rather, a highly ingenious tale dealing with the obstacles to justice often presented by chance, circumstance and human psychology.

The story develops, tremendous suspense as it unfolds, and is enhanced further by the truly excellent performances of Tone, Miss Raines and Curtis, in particular. To a high degree, the same may be said of the principal supporting players, including Thomas Gomez, Fay Helm, Elisha Cook, Jr., Regis Toomey, the veteran Andy Tombes and Joseph Crehan.

Tone Scores

Franchot Tone, whose top-rung Hollywood stardom is founded on a succession of appealing romantic portrayals, departs his expected role as leading man and emerges in "Phantom Lady" as the "menace," or villain for the first time in his screen career. And the villain he creates causes one to ponder why the polished Tone postponed the experiment so long.

Tone's delineation of a brilliant young sculptor, who creates objects of beauty out of a love for mankind, and of his disintegration into a wanton killer, the tragic outgrowth of paranoia, is a skillful job of transition which bids fair to go unsurpassed this film season.

Ella Raines, co-starred with Tone, suffers not at all by his dominating performance, for Miss Raines establishes in "Phantom Lady" that, although her young career numbers on the screen to date, she arrived well-prepared to adequately hold up in finished thespian company.

Full credit for the all-around excellence of "Phantom Lady" could not be substantiated without mention of Joan Harrison, the film's associate producer, and Robert Siodmak, the director.

Death Of Mrs. Frank Tipping

The news of the death of Mrs. Frank Tipping was received in Bay St. Louis with deep regret. Mrs. Tipping was the former Miss Marguerite Fairchild and was a native of Waveland. She was a daughter of the late Louis Fairchild of New Orleans and the late Maggie Winne-more Fairchild of Indiana and lived in New Orleans until three years ago when she and her husband moved to Brookhaven, Miss.

She was a stepdaughter of Mrs. Louis Fairchild of this city. She leaves her brother Edmund H. Fairchild of Brookhaven and a sister, Mrs. Paul Magriel of Washington, D. C.

The Fairchild family are remembered here by many and Mrs. Tipping is the last of the Fairchild daughters by Mr. Fairchild's first marriage.

Telephone Lines to the Front

As battles roll on to victory and vast new areas are conquered, the need for tremendous amounts of telephone equipment becomes more and more urgent.

Since the start of the war the huge telephone manufacturing plants of the Bell System have been concentrating on the manufacture of telephone equipment for war use exclusively, to insure that there shall be no shortages of telephone equipment on the war fronts.

Just before war started, the Southern Bell Company completed a large program of expansion of central office and outside plant facilities. This enabled us to continue installing telephones after the manufacture of telephone equipment for civilian use had stopped.

Now, however, the normal reserves of switchboards, wire, cables and instruments have been used up, and we have many people on our waiting lists for service. But war's needs must come first, so for some time we at home shall continue to make the most and the best use of what we now have.

ORTIE THEATRE SUNDAY-MONDAY "CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY"

Starring Deanna Durbin And Gene Kelly

Deanna Durbin, for several years Hollywood's top singing star, now emerges as one of the screen's top-ranking actresses as well.

Any question which may have been entertained regarding the ability of the lovely songstress to successfully invade the sphere of pure drama is now dispelled. Her new Universal picture, "Christmas Holiday," showing Sunday and Monday at the Ortie Theatre proves beyond a doubt that Miss Durbin can, effortlessly, hold her own in any company of dramatic artists. Her performance in her first sheerly dramatic role is flawless.

The picture, adapted from W. Somerset Maugham's novel of the same title, tells a story within a story and presents Deanna in a dual characterization—a worldly cafe entertainer, and a charming bride whose world collapses about her when her husband of six months commits murder.

Flash-Backs
The film introduces Deanna singing a torch song in a tawdry New Orleans cafe, and reveals her earlier years in flash-backs as she relates the story of her life to a young Army lieutenant.

Songs in the picture are held to a minimum. There are only two, Irving Berlin's "Always"—which the star sings twice—and an original by Frank Loesser, "Spring Will Be A Little Late This Year." However, these numbers are made outstanding by the fact that Deanna sings them in a torch style never before employed by her.

Gene Kelly, who co-stars with Miss Durbin, gives one of his finest performances as her husband. Kelly is completely charming and yet thoroughly convincing as a killer moved "more by weakness than malice."

Superb Cast
Richard Whorf as a newspaper reporter, Dean Harens as the young lieutenant, Gladys George as the cafe proprietress and Gale Sondergaard as Kelly's mother, all come forward with outstanding performances in exciting roles.

Much credit also must go to Producer Felix Frankfurter and Associate Producer Frank Shaw for the fine manner in which this production presents Miss Durbin in her dramatic debut.
